Art Unit: 1775

1. The following is a quotation of the appropriate paragraphs of 35 U.S.C. 102 that form the basis for the rejections under this section made in this Office action:

A person shall be entitled to a patent unless –

(a) the invention was known or used by others in this country, or patented or described in a printed publication in this or a foreign country, before the invention thereof by the applicant for a patent.

(e) the invention was described in (1) an application for patent, published under section 122(b), by another filed in the United States before the invention by the applicant for patent or (2) a patent granted on an application for patent by another filed in the United States before the invention by the applicant for patent, except that an international application filed under the treaty defined in section 351(a) shall have the effects for purposes of this subsection of an application filed in the United States only if the international application designated the United States and was published under Article 21(2) of such treaty in the English language.

2. Claims 1,4,5,9 are rejected under 35 U.S.C. 102(a) as being anticipated by Applied Materials Inc (WO 99/41423).

Applied Materials discloses the claimed multilayered dielectric layers with the claimed dielectric constant, thickness and components.

3. Claims 1,4,5,9 are rejected under 35 U.S.C. 102(e) as being anticipated by Grill et al (6,497,963) or Lee et al (6,020,458).

Grill et al or Lee et al disclose the claimed multilayered dielectric layers with the claimed dielectric constant, thickness and components.

4. The following is a quotation of 35 U.S.C. 103(a) which forms the basis for all obviousness rejections set forth in this Office action:

(a) A patent may not be obtained though the invention is not identically disclosed or described as set forth in section 102 of this title, if the differences between the subject matter sought to be patented and the prior art are such that the subject matter as a whole would have been obvious at the time the invention was made to a person having ordinary skill in the art to which said subject matter pertains. Patentability shall not be negated by the manner in which the invention was made.

5. Claims 2-3,6-8 are rejected under 35 U.S.C. 103(a) as being unpatentable over Applied Materials Inc (WO 99/41423) or Grill et al (6,497,963) or Lee et al (6,020,458).

The references disclose the invention substantially as claimed except for the claimed gradation and composition of the layers.

It would have been obvious to one of ordinary skill in the art to gradient the interface between the layers, as this technique is known in the art to improve adhesion between the layers.

It also would have been obvious to one of ordinary skill in the art to provide the layers with the claimed composition, as one in the art would optimize the composition to produce the claimed electrical properties desired.
